If there is one Republican who has har-bored doubts as to his duty in this crisis in the city's affairs, a look at the gathering at Metropolitan Hall last evening, would have solved his doubts at once. We would speak the Democratic ranks; but we cannot avoid the declaration that at no public meeting in this city were there ever gathered so many of the elements of mischief as were grouped togother in that assemblage of which we speak. As might have been expected, the crowd was mainly Irish—Irish to whom a city might be surrendered if it were to be sacked, but to Catholic zeal, would ever dream of giving up the government of Chicago. We pass over their tattered garments and dirty and equalid look as evidences of their want of industry and thrift; but we cannot, and we are sure our readers will not, forget the evidences of uncontrolled passion, of flery hate, of ignorance, of intolerance of resulpe Celtic bloodthiratiness which were so prominent, which way soever the spectator might turn. These are the men to whom the security of the lives and property of the tax-payers of Chicago are

LET US HAVE PEACE.

This will be a day of profound excitement; and it is incumbent upon Republicans to so deport themselves that they may have no repensibility for any row that may be gotter up. In an emergency like the present, the observance of a single rule will greatly help our cause; and that is this: Take no offence at words. Whatever Demothe Irish may howl, how bitter soever may be the enemy's tannes—let them not be followed by a breach of the peace. But stand upon what may. When the polls are threatened treating voters begins, be there like men; and if it is necessary to strike, strike hard.

We do not, if moderate counsels prevail on the other side, apprehend any disturbance be-rood the usual brawls and squables that every election day brings forth. We know that Republicans are peaceably disposed. If they are met in the spirit that they will carry to the polis, we shall, to-norrow, congratule our citizens on the fact that election day passed of without an incident by which the good name of Chicago has been stained. Let us, then entreat the Democratic leaders to be pru-dunt in their advice and sparing in the whisky which they will deal out to their crowds. Upon them be the responsibility if they attempt the tactics for which the Chicago De-

It has been openly boasted by Democratic speakers that one of the main objects of this contest was the getting of Chicago into such a position that the Democratic party of the State night be able to put a foot upon her neck That boast was made by one of the orators at Gill's saloon, on Wells street; and the ragged and drunken rabble who heard it, and who hope to hope to profit by the change which they are striving to make, hailed him with their brutal yells as he uttered it. SPALDING'S PARFARED GRUE —Housekeepers will be glad to learn that the mishaps to furniture, picture-frames, crockery, etc., so prevalent about May-day, can breesfer be remedied at a srifling expense, by using Spanding's Preyared Gloto. This glue is put up in a convenient bottle, and is chemically held in solution, retaining nit the desirable qualities of well-prepared cabing-tunier's glue, and is used cold. A small brush accompanies each bottle, the whole costing but twenty-fire cents, and furnishing an aver-ready and efficient means for repairing all kinds of broken housebold wares. It will be found exceedingly convenient for cone and shell-work, piano-turners, and for all purposes requiring a strong muciliage. No housekeeper ean afford to be without it.

the order of battle this year as not to repel the 393,590 votes cast in the free States for Mr. Fillmore in 1856. It does not follow that we must nominate Mr. Fillmore or a distinctive Fillmore man. That experiment would perhaps cut off more inches from the top of the blanket than it would add to the bottom. But it is too plain for argument that the character of our Presidential ticket must be such as to commend itself favorably to the 82,175 supporters of Mr. Fillmore in Pennsylvania, the 24,115 in New Jersey, the 22,386 in Indiana, and the 37,444 in Illinois. It is in Indiana, and the 37,444 in Illinois. It is equally palpable that regard must be had for the 124,604 voters of like predilections in New York, the 28,126 in Ohio, and the 9,180 in man for the crisis. If the probabilities of harmonising and concentrating this element are greater with him for the Republican standardbearer, than with any other equally staunch Republican, he ought to be nominated by acclamation without the formality of a ballot.

But if the concurrent testimony of the times points to Gov. Chase, or Mr. Lincoln, or Judge Read, or Judge McLean, as more likely to carry that element in the figure contest now at hand, without sacrificing any other equally important element, it strikes us that

ter. It will avail nothing if we carry sach by fifty thousand majority in each, if we lose Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois by one vote in each. In these States and in New York lies the great bulk of Mr. Fillmore's strength. Let it be well looked to; and if there be any rotes, without making deserters from the Re ublican ranks, than Abraham Lincoln, let "Warm Sherman, Esq.—Sir: My father-in-law, Mr. Gerrit Smith, has so far waked up from the eclipse of his intellect as to be able to read and to hear reading. He has just now seen for the first time the "Manifesto of the New York Democratic Vigilant Association," published last October, in which you connect his name with a sertian Central Association of bloody and horrible purposes.

"As Mr. Smith belongs to no Society, has always opposed secret societies, had never before heard of this "Cosstral Association," and condemns all shedding of human blood, save by Government, he necessarily feels himself to be deeply wronged by you and your associates. To return to your letter, I hardly netthet it is unsatisfactory to Mr. Smith. I dently was not intended to be satisfactohim.

Within the past three days but little has been done beyond the above bill in the House.

In the Scaate, yesterday, the bill requiring the forcelosure of trust deeds by process of law in the courts, passed, and I presume will receive the sanction of the flowerner. It virtually destroys all distinction between a mortgage and trust deed, where given to secure money loaned. It is rather important to brokers and all money loaners to know of the existence of this law. It will make the courts business upon repeate trust deeds, as many claim it will operthis law. It will make the courts numeral present trust deeds, as many claim it will operate upon existing as well as future deeds. Such was the design of the bill as passed the House, but it cannot as it passed the Senate.

OUR NEBRASKA LETTER.

Importance of the Wastern Trade to Chicago-Chicago and St. Louis-Compleiton of the Wastern Road-The Proposed Expres, etc.

[Ocro-pondence of the Press and Tribuse.]

Oxano, February 28, 1860.

The recent action of the Chicago Board of Trade in regard to the necessity of facilitating their intercourse with the mining regions of Western Nebrasks, has induced me to offer a few augrestions in regard to our mutual inter-Western Nebraska, has induced me to offer a few auggestions in regard to our mutual interests. Our geographical position, our former associations, and our future prospecta, lead us, in this region, to look to Chicago as the natural mart for the surply of most of our commercial wants. Heretofore the want of convenient transport from Chicago to this region of country direct has compelled our merchants to procure their supplies from St. Louis, and often at rates considerably in advance of Chicago prices. This will necessarily continue to a greater or less extent until the Mississippi and Missonri Railwill necessarily continue to a greater or less extect until the Mississippi and Missonri Rail-road is completed, though eyen this, unless pushed with new energy and opened soon, will not recover for Chicago, at least for years, all the trade of this country which naturally belongs to it. The railroad from St. Louis intersecting the Hannibal and St. Joseph R silroad now brings St. Louis within fifty hours of this point, and leaving but 150 miles of singe or river travel, mates us feel as if St. Louis was not far distant. To reach Chicago direct we must point, and leaving but 150 miles of stage or river travel, makes us feel as if St. Louis was not far distant. To reach Chicago direct we must travel 300 miles by stage agross Lows, and are without any proper mode of transporting goods. The result is that St. Louis supplies us in all those goods, which, with a railroad ecross lows, would be purchased at Chicago, and most of our travel to the Eastern States goes south of Chicago instead of through is. In the meantime St. Louis and her accociste interests are rapidly pushing, on railroad communication from St. Joseph to Conneil Bluffs and Omals, with every prospect of immediate snesess. Should shy succeed in completing this railroad before one is built from Iowa City to Conneil Bluffs, Chicago will loose what it will take years to recover. The mercantile and railroad interests of Chicago would make money, to take all the stock and advance the money necessary to complete the railroad from Iowa city to the Missouri river during the next eighteen months. The rapidity with which the interior of Nebraska is being settled, and the large business already opened up at this point, will soon be an important item in the commercial interests of any great city that procures her direct trade and Influence.

The discovery of extensive gold mines directly west of ns, and only five hundred miles distant, adds test-fold weight to all the previous considerations. A large population must immediately gather in the mining region, and this being the nearest commercial point of supply, must receive a large proportion of the mining trade. Whether this ultimately enriches Chicago or St. Louis will depend very much on the action of Chicago.

All the travel from the mines saxiward comes she Government Survey for a Military Road, previous to say competitions for expectority by any points on the river north of Missouri line. A military road was laid out and military bridges erected for 100 miles west of this. Every stream from Omaha to the Boup Fork is now bridged in a safe and substantia manuer, and the Loup Fork is crossed by a safe and commoditions fergy. The Platte may be crossed by ferry just clow the mouth of the Loup Fork, or forded at Kearney, as preferred. A iterry is also being constructed above Kearney, at the forks of the Platte, and will be ready for early apring travel. There is not now a single obstantial to the control of the forks of the Platte, and will be ready for early apring travel. There is not now a single obstance to travel, even with heavy loads, between Omaha and Fort Kearney. Loaded teams, of a tos freight to a span of horses, leave this early for the mines almost daily, even at this early for the first hundred miles, and stations where supplies are furnished are now found at necessary distances all the way to Kearney. Mistantial gail this, Leavenoverth controls far more of the mining trade than Omaha. The principal reason of this is the influence and advantage of an express running from that city to the mines. All the gold from the mines, not carried by private parties, goes by this express, and following the natural route to St. Louis, is ago merchants would establish this route a once, it would pay them in frace, even hough the express itself was kept up by a con-tant outlay. This is an important matter, and now only throw out these general suggestions or your consideration. Other matters as conattength enough to pull a shad off a gridiron, he will start before daylight walk to the top of, the mountain, chop a cord of wood and get back at aundown. And he is the son of old Billy Babcock, (already described in the Home Journal), who is still making baskets up in the mountains, though he was slitten years old when Napoleon Bonaparte was born—now in his one hundred and seventh year, and yet seeming to have no idea of dying.

"Old Brush," as it ey called him, was another wonderful handler of an aze, who "kept living on, long after he looked as if it was not use," and he was so lively, that, when he did die at last, they had some trouble to buy him. He kicked out the foot-board of his coffin, it the first place, as they carried him to his grave—(or so it was said by everybody, though, possibly, the weight of his body shoved it out, as they origing the modown the steep mountain, and the nearest neighbor who had made a kind of loose box for him, want's much of a carpenter)—but so awful a thunder sterm as there was at the funeral, had not been witnessed for years. Farmer Sutheriand, with his ox team, did the burying—the nan who, in his day, did all the charity work for the neighborhood, "always ready to hitch up for anything or anythody"—and, as he filled up the grave, he stopped with awe as the thunder and lightning. He was fond of old Brush, and thought the veteran soldier ought to have been buried with military honor. "Yes," saids he, as he stood and listened to a tremendous peal, "his country won't fire over him, but Hawen's artillery will." And this chance speech at the grave passed into one of the traditions of the neighborhood—"good as a monument for old Brush."

A Loremotive on the Ice.

[From the N. Y. Times, Feb. 28th.]

The public was some months since apprised of the Intention, and it some extent of the plans, of Mr. Norman Wiard and his associates in the matter of transporting passengers and goods over the almost boundless expanse of our plans, of Mr. Aorman varies passengers and goods over the almost boundless expanse of our Western frepen rivers in steam propelled ears or sleighs. The extent and amount of the Winter commerce thas proposed, togother with the fact that the average thickness and smoothness of the live for the last five months would render such a project feasible, has excited the liveliest interest among the commercial men of the Northwest and dommon carriers generally.

The popular excitement naturally waned, but the projectors of the scheme have been hard at work, and the great question—will it go?—is very soon to be tested. On Tuesday next the first "machine" will be started by reflaws from Jersey City, where it has been building, for the Upper Mississippi, where the loce is me a most tovel and important branch of inter-communication, which will render the location of the condition.

Should the experiment succeed, it is the first step in a most novel and important branch of inter-communication, which will render the location of the condition of the machine entirely completed, except in a few most details and adjustments. A precince of condition of conditions of the various condition of conditions.

Prof. Agassiz and his Bream.

From the spiritual Magadae.

"Agassiz had been deeply cogitating on a fossi which had been recently discovered, baving new and remarkable peculiarities. It was apparently the connecting link between vertebrae and the lower animals, as the mudfish from general results of the connecting link between fishes and reptiles; but what was mortifying and puzzling to him was, that the very part of the fossil which should have showed the most interesting part was covered with the strong deposit in which is had been imbedded. While pondering the subject in bed, he fell asleep, and in a dream he was designited to have the whole httiden part, and all its mechanism and differences clearly discovered to the subject fresh in his mind; but, alsa, no sooner did he try to recall it, than the whole of whathe had seen vanished from his memory, and all be could remember was that he had seen tin its most satisfactory extest. The next night again thinking deeply of it, he fell asleep, and the whole scene was again presented before his mind. He determined to try to remember it. mind. He determined to try to remember it, nod to make an effort to awake; but he still slopt on, and in he morning had again forgotten all that he had desired to remember. He determined, if he should ever dream of it again, that he would make the strongest effort to awaken, and have paper by his bedside on which to fix the information. Accordingly, on going to bed, he piaced some paper and a peneli beside him, again thinking of his wonderful fossil, when want was us dilight, during his sleep, at finding the whole for a third time, clearly pictured before him. Now then, to awake and traosferito the paper! But no; he still slopt on, and in the morning was distressed beyond measure to find that the whole had entirely vanished from his memory. In this disconsolate state he commenced to dreas, but had not proceeded far when his eyes fell on the paper and pendil, by his bedside, and, going to them, he was astonished to find upon the paper and accurate drawing of the complete fossil, with all its parts. It was, is fact, the picture of his vision, and gave him again all he had seen in his sleep. He tells this himself, and says that he cannot account for the picture being there—whether he got up and did it himself, or the picture of the vision, and gave him again all he had seen in his sleep. He tells this himself, says with which our readers who are acquainted with which four readers who are acquainted with which our readers who are acquainted with the fossil, and, as his curionity was now largely excited, he ventured on andeavoring to uneover that part of it which was concealed under the stony deposit. Applying a fine chisel to the part, he was fortunate enough to remove the covering, and there was displayed before his eyes the exact counterpart of his picture, and his three dreams. If he were not a professor,

The Freuch have a pleasant way of thing. They don't make a solemn business of it as we are a property of the style of the style of the style one adart, endwened with pleasent small talk, wit and repartse. The table is gay with boquets and wreaths, and the dishes being brought in hot from the kitchen, and handed round to the guests, there are no lukewarm soups and meats and chilled gravies, to disgust the palate, and no half demaded joints and skeletons of fish and fowl to offend eye. At a ceremonious dinner, every lady finds on her plate a fragrant nosegy. The desserts too—and French dessert is as pictureque as it is delicious—are all arranged on the table before the meal beins. The dinner at this sessou usually opens with a course of little Usiend by sters, on the half shell—a couple of dozen or so to cach guest. Then come the soups—such soups are not prepared any, where out of France. There is one made with have to say—this is the first requisite, to acquire which everything else must for the present be sacrificed.

2. The next step is the grand one—to convert this style of easy speaking into cheate elequence. And here there is but one rule. I decarrestly entreat your son to set dails and nightly before bim the Greek models. First of all he may hook to the best modern speeches (as he probably has already ! Burke's best compositions, as the "Thoughts on the Cause of the Present Discontents;" speech "On the American Conciliation," and "On the Nabob of Arcoot's Debt," Fox's "Speech on the Westminster Scrutiny" (the first part of which he should Scratioy" (the first part of which he should pore over till he has it by heart; "On the Russian Armsment," and "On the War," 1803, with one or two of Wyndham's best, and tory iew, or rather none, of Sheridan's; but he must by no means stop here. If he would be a greatorator, he must go at once to the foundant heaf, and be familiar with every one of "Pe great orations of Democrischenes. I take for granted that he knows the Greek must positively be the model; and merely reading it, as boys do, to know the languago, won't do at all; he must enter into the apirit of each speech, thoroughly know the position of the parties, follow each turn of the srgument, and make the absolutely perfect and most chaste and severe composition familiar to his mind. His taste will improve every time he reads and repeats to himself (for he should have the fine passages by heart,) and he, will learn how much may be done by a skillful use of a few words and a rigorous rejection of all superfluities. In this view It hold a familiar knowledge of Dante to be next to Demosthenes. It is vain to say that mitations of these models won't do for our my own experience, but I do assure you that an courts of law and Parliament, and even to mobs, I have never made so much play to use a very modern phrase, as when I was almost translating from Greek. I composed the peroration of my speech for the Queen, in the Lords, after reading and repeating Demosthenes for three or four weeks, and I composed it over twenty times at least, and it certainly succeeded in an extraordinary acceeded in the extraordinary acceptance i

The Adjutant-General of Massachusetts, his official report, thus alludes to some expensions.

ments made to test the superiority of rised cannon;

By recent experiments made with a rifle cannon, there eannot be a doubt that it is as important to have cannon rifled as it, is to rifle small arma. By permission of the Governles and Council I have caused a six pounder brooze cannon to be rifled, and, in compact with an officer of the United States Ordnance Corps and another of the Navy, have recently spent one day in experimental gunnery. It was proved by actual experiment that with the smallest service charge of powder for a six pound gun (14 Ib) an elongated or conical shot, weighing fourteen pounds, can be projected at least one-third further and with more effect and at less elevation than is possible with a smooth bore cannon and round shot weighing six pounds.

The Boston Advertiser has the following in regard to the celebrated Armstrong gun!

The British Government is now making cannon on the plan and under the direction of Sir William Armstrong, at the rate of nearly larty a week, and is also preparing to rifle all the cast iron ordnance, of which it has an immease store—every gun which is rifled being hooped iron ordnance, of which it has an immense atore—every gun which is rifled being hooped with wrought iron rings, put on when red hot and "shrunk on," thus increasing the strength of the gun four-fold.

The Armstrong gun, satting aside a small increase in the first cost, is the cheapest wapon yet produced. It is stated that an ordinary twelve-pounder field hattery gun costs altogether £200, has a range of 1,400 ands, weighs 13 owt., and requires and horses to draw it to the field. The Armstrong twelve-pounders cost £250, carries with precision 5,000 yards, weighs only 8 owt, and requires but four horses and fewer men than the former. Moreover, the guns made on the old patters are capable of mb8b729 8m G. M. WASHBURN, Am only 8 out, and requires out our fewer men than the former. Moreover, the gens made on the old pattern are capable of firing owide about 1,000 rounds of shot, while the first own the f spheres began to eperate. In the course of a lew centuries the ice at the south pole became in consequence heavier than that accumulated at the morth pole, and the centre of garvity was displaced southwards; mathematicans, in fact, state the distance between the latter and the geometrical easteament more arrival plant the other, and at about 1,700 metres.

Under these circumstances, what could the liquid surface of the globe do but flow southward, leaving all the continent we are so familiar with uncovered? Here M. Julien observes, that all the regions of the southern hemisphere bear unmistakable marks of submersion; that America, Africa, and India end in points, all turned towards the south pole; that the islands of the southern regions have the appearance of the summits of mountain ranges, and that Lieuthmary, soundings show that the coasts or this side descends abruptly into the sea, He further states the curious fact that in going from the point to the south pole, at every parallel the ratio of the extent of land to that of the soa diminishes regularly and progressively.

Let us now take into consideration the phenomenon called the procession of the equinoxes in virtue of which the first point of Aries receives upon the ecliptic by about 30 seconds in a year. This gradually causes a complete change in the seasons can return at precisely the same periods of the year. It has been ascertained that up to the year 124s of the Christian era, a year-in which the first day of winter precisely goincided with the earth's passage through its perithion, the temperature of the southern one procession on return at precisely the same periods of the year. It has been ascertained that up to the year 124s of the Christian era, a year-in which the first day of winter precisely goincided with the earth's passage through its perithion, the temperature of the southern one, it was the north pole and not its opposite one which was in its maximum or refrigeration; our present onninents unknown to us in the southern were continents

Advices from Madrid state that Marshal O'Donnell is actually engaged in reconsistring the country surrounding Tetuan. He had received a delegation from the Moorish Government, asking on what terms pasce would be granted, and had referred the question to his peers who had despatched a messenger to Tetuan with the conditions on which peace would be granted. Public spirit in Spain is warlike, and it is believed will continue.

ST, LOUIS, CAIRO, MEMPRIS, VICEBBURG, AN in passage. He said there was a necessity for an increase of the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims, te give an opportunity to obtain justice to claims, the give an opportunity to obtain justice to claims. Mr. Hele moved to amend, that the claims alrabl not be paid out of any money in the treasury, but an appropriation must be made. He thought it unwise for Congress to give up its power to any court. After discussion the amendment was lost.

Mr. Toombs moved to amend so that the provisions of the bill shall not extend to obligations arising under the laws granting pensions other than their original contracts for services and grachities. Carried.

Mr. Hale moved to amend that the claims be specifically estimated for by the Secretary of the Treasury. This was discussed by Benjamin, Collamer, Simmous, Harian and others, and lost. Adjourned.

Apart from the more dignified regrets which accompany the coming down of growing old, there are petty mortifications whach vain people will feel as they are obliged to come down in their views as to their personal appearance. As a man's hair falls off, as he grows unwieldly stout, as he comes to blow like a porposie in ascending a hill, as his voice cracks when he tries to sing, he is obliged step by step to come down. I beartily despise the contemptible ereature who refuses to come down when nature bids him: who dyes his hair and his moustache, rouges his face, wears steps, and pads out his chest. Yet more disgusting is the made-up old reprobate when, padded, rouged, and dyed, as already said, he mingles in a circle of fast young men, and disgusts even them by the foul puriency of his tafk. Kigk him out muscular Christian! Tell him what you think of him, and see how the despicable wretch will cower! But while this refusing to come gracefully down as to physical aspect with advancing time is thoroughly abominable, let it be remembered that even in this matter the judicious man will not give up, though he will come down. Don't grow slovenly and careless as you grow old. Be scrupulously nest and tidy in dress. Miss Louisa James, a young lady of 21 years, the daughter of widow Mary Mitchell, of Pair-baven, had been ill for the greater part of a year CHARLESON, March 5.—The black crew of the British ship Avamingo mutined on Sunday. Company always has some crote 1860. G haven, had been ill for the greater part of a year part, and for the last four months had been contined to her bed. The physicians pronounced her disease one of the heart and lung, and though the best of medical aid was procured, she continued to fail rapidly, until at last it was announced that human skill could do nothing more for her. For the last two months she le't all control of her lower limbs, and it was with the greatest difficulty that she could be moved. She was reduced so low that her stomach refused the slightest nourishment. On Wednesday, the Sh inst. a fermle friend visited her, and in the course of a conversation remarked that the Rev. Joseph K. Bellows, of New York, of the Second Advent persuasion, to which the mvalid belonged, was in town. Miss James desired to see him, and in the evening he called at her residence. She felt that should the Reverend genilemm pray for her she would recover, and after a short conversation she made such a request. The olergyman and the mother of the invalid kneft down, and a fervent and earnest prayer was offered up her behalf. The mother says that before the minister prayed, the body of her daughter was cold as marble, and at the close of the exhortation she perspired freely. Miss James describes her seaustions to camage any enterprise that has any connection with it. In the present case, it issues its tickets for return passage of drovers with this insulting clause: "By the emigrant line." Is it possible that that Company is ignorant of the fact that some of the most respectable and wealthy farmers in Ohio, Indisna, Illimois and Kentucky, come to market with their own cattle, and that they will not patropize a road that deliberately insults them in this ay, and makes a distinction that no other road ever makes, and by refusing to give them a return passage on a decent train, compels them to buy tickets as the exorbitant monopoly prices.

The cost of transportation and incidental expenses per head of estile from flows this week is given at $15.20 head. From Ohio an average of $10 or $21. From Chicago, one lot that come 19 to a car, vite Canada road, cost a trife less than $10 a head. The Canada road, from Detroit to Suspension Bridge, now gives good satisfaction to drovers. It has been driven, probably, in consequence of the superior cars for drevers put on the Erie road, to improve upon its old style of uncomfortable cabooses, and now puts a passenger car on the stock trains. The New York Central must follow suit, or fail to compete with the Erie. Mr. Ashmore commenced speaking but was called to order by Mr. Grow.

Ar. Ashmore said he thought Mr. Grow had better hold his songree. [Ores of order from the Republicans.] He would not vote for any investigation on mainuations, lying and untruthfall, when the gentleman will not personally take the responsibility of what he asserts. [This is believed to be the substance of Mr. Ashmore's remarks, but the cries of order from the Republican side prevented him being heard thincity.] He would vote for the resolution if the charges were made specific.

Mr. Cobb said—If my party is guilty of corruption left is be forrested out.

Messra. Winston, Graig of Nr. C., Smith of Va., and others, amid cries of "order," stated why they would vote against a suspension of the rules. The rules were snapended—117 against 45, and the resolution was adopted—under the operation of the previous question.

Mr. Reagan offered a joint resolution that $3,00,000 be piaced at the disposal of the Presion of hostilities on the Rio Grande. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. Adj.

Mr. Nergan offered a specific remains a superior of the suppression of hostilities on the Rio Grande. Referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. Adj.

The British Corn Trade.

[From the Mark Lane Express, Feb. 18.]

The past week, commencing with a heavy fal of rain, followed by boisterous snowy weather and frost, has kept the clay lands backward. Still there is yet time for a favorable sowing of spring Wheat and other corn in March. The roung Wheat mostly locks small and week, and uite below the prospects of last year. Favorable changes may, however, bring the produce to an average crop. The improvement in the nondition of the samples which began to appear in several markets, will now probably continue with plant winter weather. Frices have well.

Ladius Tunnino Mail Robbers. — A.St. John's (N. F.) correspondent formishes us with the particulars of a requarkable and systematic mail robbery, which has just been brought to hight in that city. It appears that money letters have often disappeared of lave, among others a letter mailed by an aditor from St. John's to Conception Bay. The editor, finding that the Post Office authorities would not properly investigate the maiter, appealed to the Governor, who immediately ordered an inquiry, which has resulted in some extraordinary developments. It seems that Mrs. and Miss Shea. (wife and daughter of the Chief Clerk of the Post Office, and two servant girls who lived with them, made a practice of opening the letters whenever they wanted money, and appropriating the contents. If they found bills of exchange or foreign notes they destroyed them. In one case, a widow woman named Woods met with a serious leas Some of her friends in Roginad sent her a £5. Bank of England note. Mrs. Shes not being able to pass it, burnt it. Numerous other case have come to light. The discovery create great excitement, the parties implicated being related to some of the high government official. The four females are imprisoned in the Pententiary awaiting their trial.—Boston Traceler
